

Gratitude Malehwiti Phoku

On paper, I'm a BSc Information Technology finalist with strong grades. In reality, I'm someone who thrives whenever I step outside my comfort zone. I've spent my university career proving that technical skills are only half the equation, true impact comes from being adaptable. Whether I'm coding systems, Leading a Tender Project, or stepping into executive support roles directly under NWU Directors, I bring a mix of hard work, the ability to think quickly on my feet, and a natural knack for solving complex problems on the fly while seeing all objectives through to completion. I don't just stick to what I know; I run toward what I have yet to master, always keeping the door open to learn more.....
